If there's one thing that sets Gist apart, it's the quality of our people. We have excellent people.

Man 1

In fact, excellence is one of our defining values throughout our supply chain operations.

Woman 2

And in the ways we use innovation and new technologies to provide tailored solutions.

Which enable us to work in partnership with our customers, and respond to their individual needs.

Throughout Gist, you'll find people with a breadth of experience, that is rare in the supply chain industry. People who have extensive operational know-how, people with sector specific knowledge and expertise. It's a massive skill based, which enables us to think more latterly and combine vision with practicality.

At Gist, we employ only the best people, who we feel can make a real difference to our customers' business, and ours.

That's at every level, and in every location. Our people know how to get the best out of their people, and they really care about our customers.

Of course we recognise that new ideas and new ways of doing things are key to our success, which is why we continually develop and invest in our people, to enable them to grow to their full potential.

It's an investment that is reflected in the way that we work with our customers. 24 hours a day, 7 days a week. A timeframe during which we strive to achieve excellence in everything we do. Getting the right product in the right place at the right time, is not a slogan at Gist, it's the measure of how our customers judge us, and how we judge ourselves. We set standards of excellence in every aspect of our business, especially safety, which runs through everything we do.

An industry leading behavioural safety programme, is in place across the entire network, which means every Gist employee works to achieve 100% safety, 100% of the time. This makes the workplace, not just safer, but more efficient and better at implementing new technology.

Innovation is evident in everything we do, and the supply chain industry has recognised this. Our award winning technology initiatives include RFID implementation programmes and we have pioneered leading edge modelling tools for warehouse flow simulation.

Gist is a fast moving business, that is constantly breaking new ground and adding value for its customers.

We are at the forefront of new vehicle technology, warehouse management tools and change management programmes.

And we have developed highly skilled teams for implementing new technology and processes seamlessly and effectively.

An effective operation means world class customer service, for all our innovation, vision and operational excellence is focused on our customers' needs. We work in partnership with you, to try and understand your business requirements and objectives, and then create a tailor-made solution, that meets those needs exactly.

We provide an end-to-end service which provides complete visibility and control of every aspect and milestone of your supply chain. It extends from the place of manufacture, at home or overseas, through a network of operations to customer fulfilment.

Whether its designing and delivering a new model for your network operations, or managing the distribution of your goods out to your customers, we can sit within the heart of your business, or be just a data link away.

At Gist, we work in close partnership with our customers creating one team, that's focused on transforming your supply chain.

Bringing innovative thinking and technology to your business.

Achieving world class standards and excellence in everything that we do.

And that all results from working with the right people.

Gist people.
